As many seniors find they can no longer afford to stay in their homes and these homes are taking longer to sell in this struggling economy, Caring Transitions helps seniors who are moving, downsizing, or looking to de-clutter their homes or put together an estate sale.

Its aim is to give families the freedom to spend their time and energy on one another, not on endless details. Caring Transitions provides expert guidance on preparing for a home sale, preserving family heirlooms, and liquidating household items.

President Trish Panico helps families cope with the tough market by assessing the items in the house and assisting them in making critical decisions about those items. Caring Transitions also arranges for the shipment or storage of treasured family heirlooms and runs errands and meets with contractors to keep the process on schedule.

When a realtor is hired by the family to sell the house, Caring Transitions arranges for the home to be prepared, cleaned, and put on the market as quickly as possible. The company's full range of transition and relocation services is tailored to the needs of each individual and family.
